My earliest attempts at art were drawing and coloring clothes for my paper dolls when I was little. Over the years, my doodling helped me through many a boring class! Fortunately, I was required to take college courses in art history and that sparked a genuine interest in fine art.

When my daughter decided to major in art, her interest drew me into many a museum and gallery, deepening my appreciation. I have maintained this passion for art through years of travel that allowed me to see some of the great masterpieces in New York City, Athens, Paris, Rome, London, Madrid, Cairo, Dublin, Tel Aviv, and Jerusalem.

As a retiree, I started taking art classes and art has become a big part of my life. I work in acrylics, pastels, and mixed media. My artwork has been displayed at the Jewish Community Center, the Audubon Senior Center, and at Millard Fillmore Suburban Hospital. I am also a resident artist at River Art Gallery in North Tonawanda.
